

Year graduated from CCS

2012

Family

Parents Mike and Sandy Yarbrough, brothers Chris and Cameron, and sisters Ashely Zbinden and Megan Beall

What did you do after CCS graduation? (College, work, etc.)

I attended Columbus State for three years, University of Central Florida one semester, and Kennesaw State for two years. I have worked for The Walt Disney Company, Ben B Gordy Inc., and the Harris County Board of Commissioners office.

What are you doing now?

Finishing up college. I will graduate in December of 2019 with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Kennesaw State University.

How did CCS prepare you for what you are doing and/or where you are?

One of the best lessons I learned from Calvary was building a relationship with teachers. If they are viewed as a person of authority, like a boss, learning how to communicate with them has been very beneficial when in college or in the workplace.

What advice would you give a CCS student?

Be willing to listen and take advice from your teachers. When in college or work, not doing what is asked of you has larger implications than just not turning in an assignment or getting in trouble for not doing what you're told. Teachers have been through school and work and are preparing you for your next step in life.

What are your future plans?

After graduating in December, I'll look for job opportunities at Disney World and around the Orlando area. With four years of work experience, I can take the exam to become a professional engineer. I'd like to become an Imagineer with Walt Disney Imagineering. In May of 2020, I will be marrying my fiancé Jasmine Carter and am excited to start my life with her.

In three or four sentences, what would you tell someone about yourself?

I am an engineer who loves Disney, basketball, and my family. My best friend is my fiancé whom I love very much. I hope to one-day work on construction projects for Disney. And I am still the last 1,000-point scorer in Calvary Basketball history (challenging any current or future players to be the next to do it).
